

Shungite, a Protective and Curative Stone

Natalia
and Sven
Strecker

| Based on personal experience and numerous positive reviews from the shungite owners, we are happy to sell this special stone and share information about it.

Our acquaintance with shungite began in the 90s with a shungite pyramid. Since then, our fascinating hobby has grown into a family business with many satisfied customers all over Europe. We, Natalia and Sven Strecker, have many years of experience in the shungite trade and since then we are dedicated followers of shungite application due to its obvious power.

It takes a lot of time and attention to guarantee the quality of our shungite. We regularly monitor all processes, from the place of shungite origin in Karelia to production sites and transportation to Germany.

Natalia and Sven Strecker

P. S. Although we have a lot of experience with this stone, we should not and cannot offer you any health-related advice. This does not belong to our expertise.

| Amazing Stone and its Magical Origin

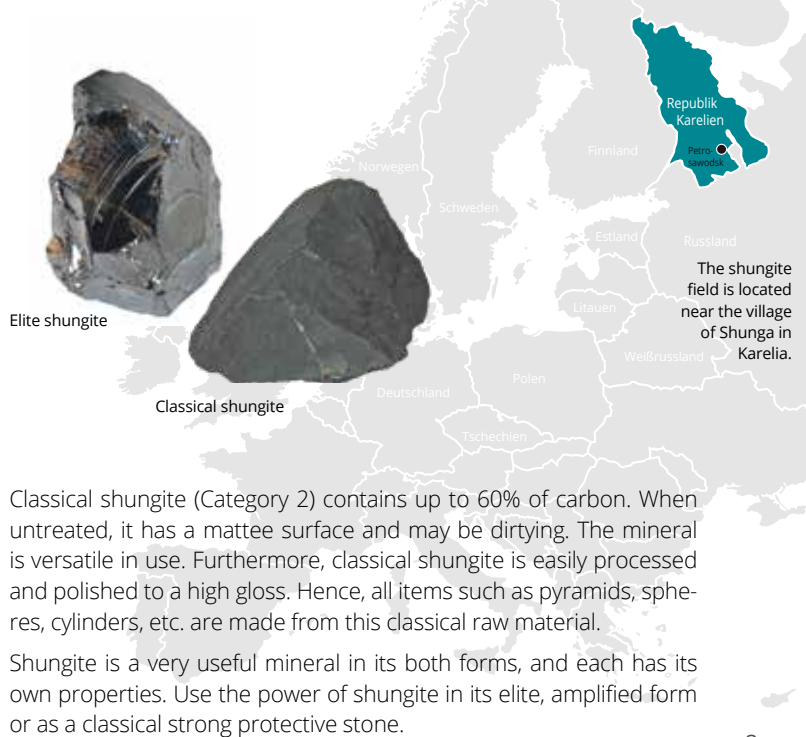

Shungite is a unique mineral with a special ability to protect us from negative influences. Its origin still remains a mystery, and there are several mystical stories. This makes shungite a mysterious stone.

There are two types of this mineral, i.e. elite shungite and classical shungite. Both types of shungite are conductive and are located in the same region of Karelia. The chemical composition of the minerals is identical, but there are significant differences between them. We are happy to sell this special stone and share information about it based on our personal experience and numerous positive reviews from shungite owners.

Use the power of shungite in its elite, amplified form or as a classical strong protective stone.

| Which of the two is better?

Elite shungite (Category 1) is very rare in nature, which makes it exclusive. It contains up to 90% of carbon, has a glossy surface and is almost not dirtying. Elite shungite is very fragile and hardly suitable for further processing. It is used as energy jewelry, hand charms and, of course, as a means to purify water.

Classical shungite (Category 2) contains up to 60% of carbon. When untreated, it has a matte surface and may be dirtying. The mineral is versatile in use. Furthermore, classical shungite is easily processed and polished to a high gloss. Hence, all items such as pyramids, spheres, cylinders, etc. are made from this classical raw material.

Shungite is a very useful mineral in its both forms, and each has its own properties. Use the power of shungite in its elite, amplified form or as a classical strong protective stone.

| Application and Effect of Shungite

Shungite offers us protection, positive information and balance for our energetic body. With it, we get more energy and stamina in life.

Water is an integral part of our body. Besides, water is an effective information carrier. Therefore, it is important what information we absorb with it. Shungite conveys positive information when interacting with water and thus changes its energy structure, regardless of whether you use classical or elite shungite.

Water becomes life-giving again and carries positive energy. The effect is similar to natural spring water.

The balance of internal forces affects our lives. When the situation gets out of hand, our health and wellness can suffer. Thanks to the opposing pairs of shungite and talc chlorite, you have an effective way to bring your inner forces (Yin and Yang) into harmony. We recommend wearing shungite on the left side of the body and talc chlorite on the right side. They will harmonize the flow of energy and restore inner balance, which provides its improvement. This way, you will have much more energy and stamina for your daily life.

Emissions are present everywhere in our daily life. Protective shungite items do not form a protective wall against them, so emissions are not shielded. However, a field arises in the proximity of such items that harmonizes the negative effects of emissions. The energy of the left-rotating emission is converted into the energy of the right-rotating one. Thus, the effects of exposure to emissions have less stress on the body.

Whether it is a protective object such as a pyramid, or even a shungite stone for carrying with you, emissions are much more bearable with shungite. There is also the possibility of using shungite as a protective wall. However, making such a wall is very challenging and expensive.

I, Sven Strecker, guarantee the quality and authenticity of our shungite with the Certificate.

Safe Path from the Quarry to You.

We issue Certificates to guarantee the authenticity, origin and high quality of the stones. Our long-term business partners in the Republic of Karelia supply us with products directly from the quarry. We regularly visit the site and control the processes. Thus, we know the path of stones from the place of its winning to your home.

All shungite offered on www.schungit.com comes from Zaonezhskaya oblast in Karelia (Russia).

Here is one of our business partners with a sample of shungite stone.

Sustainability and environmental compatibility are important aspects of our work. Even as a small company, we hold these principles in high regard. Our shungite comes exclusively from certified enterprises, which are subject to state supervision in the field of health and environment protection. During transportation, we make sure that the CO2 emissions are minimized. We do our best to use recyclable materials for our packaging.

This leaflet has also been produced from recycled paper. This saves the environment and valuable resources.

| Benefit from Our Experience as a Reseller!

Shungite is an amazing mineral that attracts more and more people with its properties. This valuable product is becoming more and more popular due to the increase in emissions.

Shungite trading carries few risks and great opportunities.

Classical shungite is available in its natural form. This is a completely natural product that does not lose its relevance for users. Shungite can be stored for a very long time and is space-saving in transportation.

| Harmonizing or Shielding the Negative Effects of Emissions with Shungite

Shungite has the ability to change the negatively influencing emissions in its immediate vicinity so that they no longer cause harm to our bioenergetic body. Left-rotating energy is converted to the right-rotating one. Whether you attach a shungite plate to your phone or place a shungite sphere in your bedroom, you will notice positive changes in your well-being. With the help of a dowsing rod (Tensor) or a pendulum, the effect becomes clearly visible.

Shungite can also be used to build a protective wall against emissions, providing almost complete shielding. In this case, shungite stones or powder are used in the walls or floors. This option is very labour-intensive and expensive.

To take advantage of the harmonizing effect of shungite, it is used as a decoration, protective stone or a definite shape.

Small smartphone plates or even a necklace are ideal for travelling. When the location for shungite is selected correctly, the stone provides optimal protection.

Pyramids, spheres, as well as other protective objects should be placed where a person spends the most time. Often, this is a workplace or a place for rest and recreation.

| Protective Objects with Comforting Effect

Whether it is a shungite pyramid, a sphere, a cube or an egg, shungite provides protection from stress and gives a special feeling of well-being.

Electromagnetic radiation and geopathic zones can impose great stress on the human body. Shungite is said to have the ability to provide effective protection against such negative influences. To harmonize this negative impact, shungite mineral is used as a protective item, for example, in the form of a pyramid.

Application of the pyramid:

We recommend using pyramids in an environment where you carry out activities that require high concentration, such as at your desk, in the kitchen or in your living area.

The pyramid should be near you, not at the source of radiation, and it is not a protective wall. For example, if you want to harmonize the radiation of a TV, do not place the pyramid in front of the TV, but place it next to you instead. As soon as you are within the radius of the pyramid, you get the harmonization effect. It harmonizes the biofield within its radius and thus provides a soothing atmosphere.

Shape:

We offer two different pyramid shapes. Both are designed according to the Golden Section principle.

Pyramids, Edge length	SKU No.	Active radius
Pyramid, 50 mm, polished	022	2-3 m
Pyramid, 70 mm, polished	024	3-4 m

Shungite Sphere is an Ideal Solution for Relaxation and Rest, e.g. in the Bedroom.

The cube is also called the hexahedron or cube and symbolizes the earth element in sacred geometry.

The cube embodies the masculine principle, and therefore stability. It provides a free flow of energy and good grounding. The latter is an important prerequisite for initiating planned actions, bringing visions to life, or simply bringing something new to the world. Thus, the cube connects the energies between heaven and earth.

*Having shungite
with you grants a pleasant feeling of protection.*

Wearing shungite strengthens the human biofield. The mineral possesses natural life energy and thus, it provides protection from emissions and extraneous energy sources. Whether it is elite or classical shungite, you will feel better and safer even with a stone weighing 10 g.

Shungite stone attached to radiation-emitting devices (smartphone, laptop, etc.) harmonizes the emissions. The emissions will still be present, and the stone will not limit the function of the device. However, in the immediate vicinity of shungite, the vibration of emissions has a positive effect. Thus, it is less stressful for our biofield, which enhances vitality and helps us resist stress and harmful influences.

| Harmonization of Vital Energy

Daily physical and mental stress overloads our vital energy and unbalances it. The less we are in balance, the more energy we lose. Shungite can provide effective support by balancing the internal energies (yin and yang).

The balance of the yin and yang energies is achieved by using pairs of opposites. Shungite as a carrier of yin energy belongs to the left side of the body, talc chlorite with yang energy belongs to the right side. During use, you should avoid redirecting energy flows to the body or leaving sources of emissions in the immediate vicinity of it. Therefore, it is best to remove jewelry and leave your TV and phone off.

The opposite pairs of shungite and talc chlorite spheres can be an effective help in maintaining the balance between the yin and yang forces, especially for people exposed to high mental stress on a daily basis. This way we can use our energy better and more effectively.

| Water and Shungite

Water is one of the most important fundamental elements of life. More and more people are realizing the importance of the information we receive from water.

In its homeland in Karelia, shungite has been considered for centuries the most powerful stone of its kind for energizing water.

Shungite comes from Karelia, which is rich in springs. Shungite water remains the most popular in the entire region. Shungite has been known in Western Europe for several decades. Thus, this is not a short-term hobby. Shungite water has helped people for a very long time and will certainly remain a beneficial solution for us.

| Methods of shungite water preparation

There are two main methods of water purification with shungite. One of the variants provides for placing of stones directly in water. After a while, they are taken out again. Water receives information from the stone during exposure.

In another variant, information is transmitted through a glass into water without direct contact. For example, this is carried out using a test tube filled with elite shungite, or by placing a vessel with water on a shungite plate

| Application of shungite water

Water is mainly used for drinking. Thus, we absorb the positive life-giving energy that was transferred from the stone to the water. This has a great positive effect on the energetic, and therefore on the physical level. Of course, this also applies to animals and plants. The same effect is used when applied externally, for example on the skin.

| Life-giving water

Elite shungite is a strong mineral that is also well suited for water purification. You need much less elite shungite in relation to water than with classic shungite due to its unusually strong vital energy. 10 g per 1 liter of water is already enough for the production of shungite water. Only untreated and 100% natural stones are used for water purification.

It is important that the stone has enough time to transfer information into the water in order to positively change its structure. When elite shungite is in direct contact with water, as well as when it works through the glass, the duration of exposure is about 24 hours.

In the direct contact method, it is strongly recommended to remove stones from the water after the purification procedure. Water treated with shungite gemstones is crystal clear, tasteless and has a calming effect.

There are no known side effects and no quantitative restrictions for the intake of shungite water.

Elite shungite stones (approx. 5-15 pieces) with a total weight of 50 g. Individual stones are approx. 15-30 mm and weight from 7 to 12 g. They are suitable for energetic treatment of water, as a sealant or as a protective stone that you can take with you (SKU No.: 590).

You will find a wide range of high-quality elite shungite stones on our website www.schungit.com. The stones have come directly from the field in different sizes and categories. We have described and photographed especially beautiful hand-picked samples for you.

| Classical Shungite

It is a special mineral with an extraordinary composition and a mysterious origin. The stone offers us strong support, whether when used for water purification or protection from harmful emissions. Classical shungite helps to achieve a positive effect

In its natural state, classical shungite has a matte surface and is very dirtying. The stone is often polished, so the surface becomes shiny and leaves less stains. Please note that polished stones should not be used for water treatment.

To perform purification of water with classical shungite, rinse the stones well in advance. However, we can not be sure that all the dust will be removed completely. Shungite is a relatively soft mineral by nature. When the direct contact method is used, stones are immersed in water. Depending on the well-being of the owner, the stones may stay in the water for 24 to 72 hours. After that, they have to be removed. In this case, for example, you can use smaller stones, like crushed stone, or larger ones.

Water becomes a carrier of vital energy with the help of a shungite stone.

You will find a wide range of high-quality shungite stones of various sizes on our website.

| Benefits of Good Water for Our Pets

Animals also need good water. There is no difference between preparing shungite water for your animal or for humans. You can use both elite and classical shungite for this purpose. Likewise, the exposure time and the ratio between stones and water are the same.

If you want to give your pet shungite water, it is recommended to offer two kinds of water, i.e. treated and untreated. Animals are more sensitive than humans and perceive subtle differences in energy more clearly than we do. Most often they choose shungite water.

Side effects of shungite water are not known, overdose is also impossible. Thus, after the observation phase, the animal can be offered only one source of water.

Be it elite or classical shungite stones, shungite water carries information that provides powerful support for all living beings at a fine level.

This is very easy to check. Water the plants for some time with plain water and then with shungite water. The difference is usually clearly visible. Watering plants with shungite water may stimulate growth. Additionally, it makes the plants more enduring and ensures a more lush bloom.

You will find a lot of information, advice and recommendations on the correct production of shungite water on the Internet and in publications. Unfortunately, information is often contradictory and unnecessarily complex.

The most important thing when preparing water with shungite is to pay attention to your own feelings. Regardless of whether you use elite or classical shungite, it is better to adhere to the general recommendations.

Use our practical advice to prepare shungite water.

After a short period of habituation, you will intuitively know which ratio and exposure time is best for you.

Here are some tips:

- Rinse stones thoroughly under running water before use.
- Glass jars are the best solution for water purification.
- Do not place the vessel in the sun during the purification process, but put it in the shade. Otherwise, the water can turn green very quickly.
- Avoid metal objects when purifying water, or this will lead to an unpleasant taste.
- Shungite does not absorb negative energy and therefore it does not require energy purification. However, it is recommended to clean the stone surface mechanically on a regular basis. If the stone is subsequently purified energetically (for example, in the sun), then this makes the stone beneficial and does not harm it.

- The service life of the stones is unlimited with regular cleaning.

Please note that the information here is optional. These are guidelines developed based on our experience and that of our customers.

| Special Jewelry with Protective and Harmonizing Effect

Shungite stone jewelry and pendants have been worn for centuries. Shungite is a special stone in Karelia, the region of its origin. Since ancient times, it has been considered a curative and protective stone here. The elders of the village (today we can call them shamans) often used this stone with strong vital energy during rituals. Even today, many people wear this special stone to feel more comfortable and protected.

Shungite is an extraordinary stone that keeps all the negative effects away from us and attracts the positive ones.

There is a magical connection between a sign and its meaning. If the pendant symbolizes your wish, and you carry it with you as a symbol, then the likelihood of the fulfilment of your wish increases significantly. Therefore, it is pleasant to wear a pendant for the wishes, while it contains the energy of the sign and the curative stone.

Shungite jewelry is not only beautiful, it also possesses protective and curative abilities that can significantly improve our well-being.

Wearing protective stones in the form of necklaces is perhaps the most appealing way to use shungite energy. You will find a fine selection of stylish beaded necklaces in attractive designs on our website www.schungit.com. The stone, by its nature, has a strong effect on our energetic body, therefore the negative emissions are harmonized. The best way to use a protective stone against the effects of negative emissions is wearing it around the neck.

There are only a few minerals on Earth that naturally carry such a strong life-giving energy as elite shungite.

The inhabitants of Karelia have been using elite shungite for centuries, and you can also benefit from the effect of this mineral in your daily life. Elite shungite can be used as a pendant, as a strong protective stone and an amulet. Even a small stone has a positive effect on our energetic body.

When you wear this jewelry, you can experience the magical power and protection of the stone. Elite shungite is known to provide the wearer with a particularly high level of wellness and protection from the negative effects of emissions.

Elite shungite has a shiny surface by nature. It does not leave stains and works well in high quality jewelry. Shungite is a special mineral because it does not absorb negative energy.

Therefore, there is no need to perform its energetic purification.

A deep black stone from Karelia is also an attractive gift. Elite shungite in gold or silver setting offers you a great opportunity to bring joy to your loved ones. Such a lovingly hand-crafted unique piece of jewelry can be considered not only a beautiful object but also a protective stone against energy vampires and negative energy.

| Effective Protective Stone, Strong Companion in any Business

Shungite has accompanied people for centuries in different forms, including the form of a protective amulet. There were no cars in the past, but, as today, people took amulets with them when travelling to protect themselves from the dangers that threatened them along the way.

Today we often travel by car. Our movement and our life in general have become much faster. However, despite highly developed technical safety systems, we do not always have the feeling that we are travelling safely.

Today, as it was in the past, shungite is a powerful amulet that offers us protection, both at home and on the road.

| Pendants for Pets

Shungite has fascinated people from time immemorial and continues to attract our special attention to this day. The stone transmits positive life-giving energy to us in the form of vibrations. Sensitive people can clearly perceive this energy. Animals feel the power of the stone even more intensely, as they are more closely connected with nature.

Like us humans, animals need support at an energetic level that affects the physical body. There are many ways to provide energy protection to an animal. Shungite in the form of a pendant has many advantages: it does not absorb negative energy, does not need energy purification, and is also suitable for daily use.

If you need strong protection for your pet, shungite pendant is the best choice. Regardless of whether it is a dog or a cat, if your four-legged friend has a stone with it, the negative effects of emissions will be less stressful for the animal. This is usually clearly seen in the animal's behavior.

You will also find on our website other pendants for your four-legged friends that can be used practically and effectively.

| Shungite for your Plants

It has long been established that plants respond to music. Shungite also has a positive effect on plant growth at the energy level. With the help of the shungite mineral, you have the opportunity to protect your plants from pests and diseases.

The information given below is not a universal guide for the use of shungite as a plant protection product, but, nevertheless, it is very valuable, as it is based on many years of user experience. Thus, the amount to be used, as well as the duration of exposure, can vary, especially given that each plant grows in its own and specific soil.

Crushed stone can be used in the following quantities:

Schungit-Splitt, 300 g, SKU No.: 128

Schungit-Splitt, 10 kg, SKU No.: 142

Schungit-Pulver, fein gemahlen, 200 g,
SKU No.: 037

Schungit-Pulver, fein gemahlen, 1000 g,
SKU No.: 062

You can strengthen and protect your plants with shungite. This is how you can naturally help your plants to gain more strength and vitality.

Houseplants: approx. 30-50 g of shungite crushed stone per 1 liter of soil

Garden plants: 300 g/m² depending on the plant and soil conditions

Our shungite powder consists of pure shungite only. It is very finely ground so that a large effective surface is created. Therefore, you only need small amounts of the powder:

Houseplants: approx. 15-25 g of powder per 1 liter of soil

Garden plants: 150 g/m² depending on the plant and soil conditions

As little as possible and as much as possible when needed! Take this rule into account, because too much shungite can also have a negative effect.

Shungite does not dissolve in the soil, therefore it does not spend its energy. That is why, regular fertilization with shungite is not recommended. Frequent addition of the mineral can lead to excessive soil oxidation and thus harm your plants. Regardless of whether you want to use crushed stone or shungite powder to support your plants, please check the condition of the soil and especially pH of the soil before adding shungite to avoid overacidification.
